Ask A Baker

Q: I just got a cute silicone cake pan and I'm eager to use it. It seems like it would be non-stick and that the cake would just pop right out. Do I still need to prepare the silicone pan the same way as my regular cake pans?

A: Yes, you do! I love those things by the way. Nothing is 100% non-stick so to make sure that you get the perfect cake with no pieces missing, go ahead and prepare it the same way. If you are using the little single serving cake pans and you happen to use Pam, don't spray directly into them. It gets too much into them and it tastes gross!! Spray a paper towel and then lightly rub it inside. Have fun!!

Did Ya Know?

I'm in the process of moving. It's no fun!! So I've been looking for ways to make it easier. Here's a few tips:

- Use a cardboard cutter to cut out squares on the sides of your box and use them as handles!
- When packing, don't clean as you go. It's going to get dirty again anyway and that's just going to use more of your time!
- If you're traveling and you breakdown in an unknown area, go ahead and call 911 and they can pinpoint you on your GPS.

Okay! I'm off to do more packing. Wish me luck!

Volunteers are the most valuable part of Cakes for Causes. Our volunteers not only bake but they help with deliveries, staffing information tables at events, marketing and communication of our mission, and office-type work. We are happy to say that as more people learn about CfC, the number of requests we receive has been growing. So we are always looking for people with a variety of skills who want to support our community partners once cup of sugar at a time. If you're interested or not sure how you can help, please contact us at <http://www.cakesforcauses.org/getinvolved/>, by email to info@cakesforcauses.org or by phone 520-303-7893 and let's discuss the variety of volunteer opportunities available. You don't need to commit to any particular days, hours, or types of events. All you really need is a passion for helping others to come and join the fun!
